FOREWORD

Winter comes ...
Spring comes ...
Summer ...
then Fall —
Brand new ideas and new values call,

Sunshine today ...
tomorrow it snows;
What was "out"
is now "in" —
That's how it goes.
The scenery is ever changing;
All the roles are rearranging
in this play,
and each day
brings new problems, but each hour
new blessings ...
And the pendulum keeps on swinging
as minute
after minute
has its say
then fades away ...
Ideas are changing —
left and right,
and times keep changing —
day and night.
Every person,
every place,
each new path we face,
every lesson that we learn,
each fact that we discern prepares us
for a future that God only knows.
And He gives a new morning — a new invitation to transformation.
We have changed, and we're still changing ...
outside and inside,
heart, mind, and frame ...
becoming more and more like Him
who is always the Same.

Welcome To The Changing World Of CBS

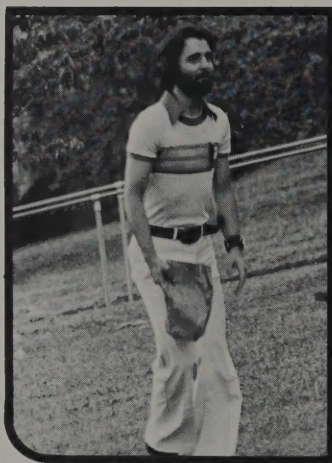

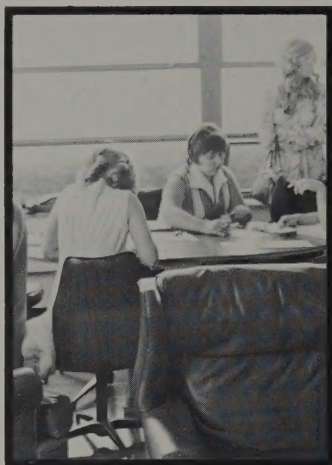

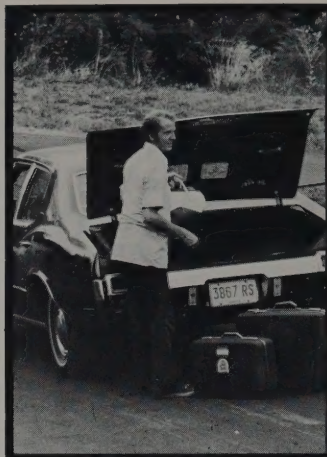

“No Parking” . . . Please Keep Moving

Things To Do, Places To Go, People To See

Registration Time — All Systems Go!

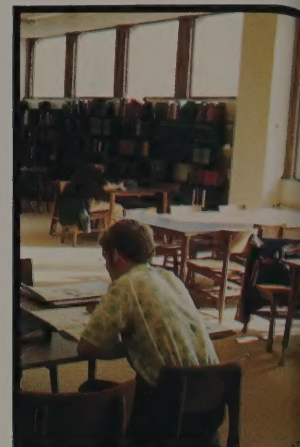

For John Hagee "movin' in" was a slow process!

Classes Picked Out, Cards Filled In, Money Gone

Mrs. Lucille Miller, secretary to the president, arranged Mr. Bream's files at the outset of a new semester.

We're In . . . And Involved — In Working

This year's acting academic dean, Thomas Friskney, discussed his new responsibilities with secretary Shirley Wuske.

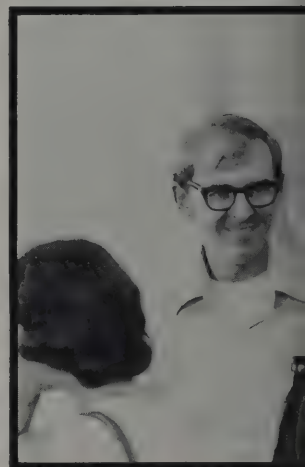

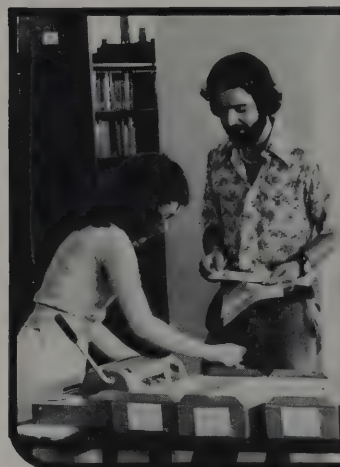

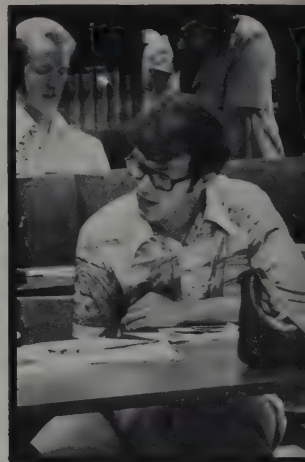

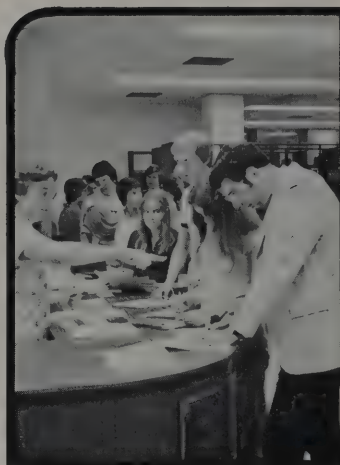

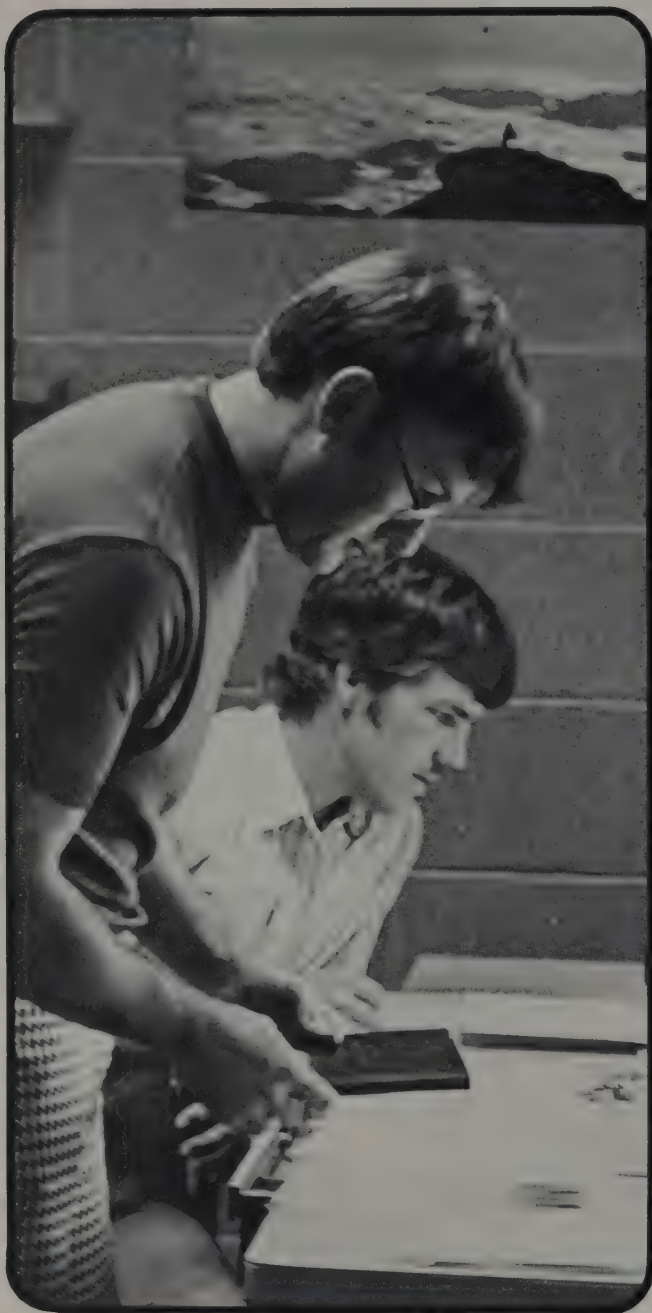

Registrar, Rosanne Russell, counseled with Connie Morgan concerning her new schedule.

And In Playing And In Learning And In Life

Terry Silence and Rick Smalling discussed the new rule changes.

“Getting To Know You, Getting To Like You

Over the summer the bookstore took on a new look.

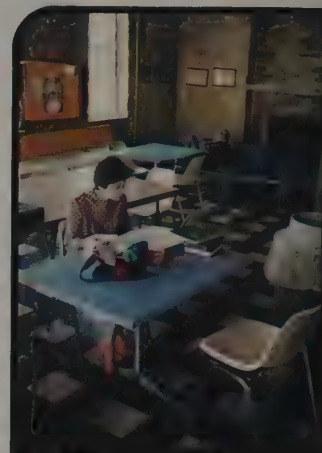

At Convocation, Dale McCann spoke on the pursuit of the "Disciples Degree."

Getting To Hope You Like Me"

Long lines awaited the students at registration.

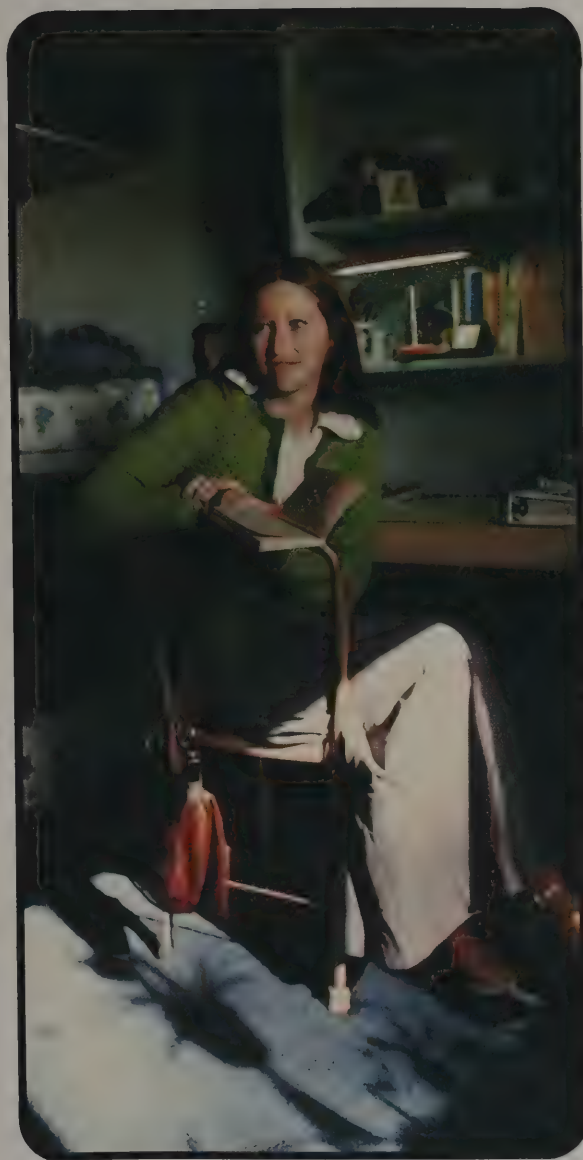

With schedules arranged, the students eagerly headed toward classes.

Finding New Places Where Things Will Happen

Already settled in for the year, Lyndelle Griffiths paused for a moment's reflection.

Meeting My New Family I'll Be A Part Of

Learning A Whole New Set Of Names And Faces

It couldn't be that bad, Janet West.

Getting Acquainted With Real, Live Teachers

A new day, of a new year, about to begin on the hill overlooking Cincinnati.

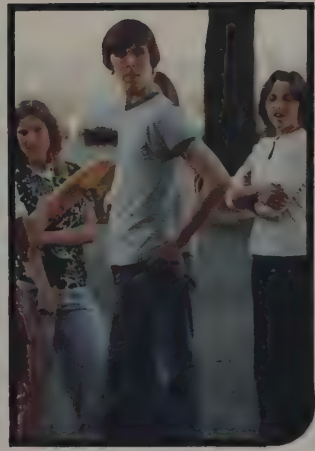

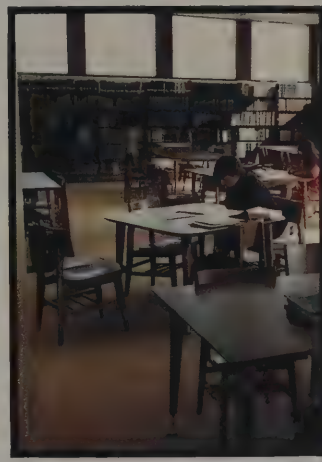

Attentive students expectantly began a new school year in Mr. Thurman's class, "The Church."

It's A New Day . . . New Ideas . . . New Thoughts

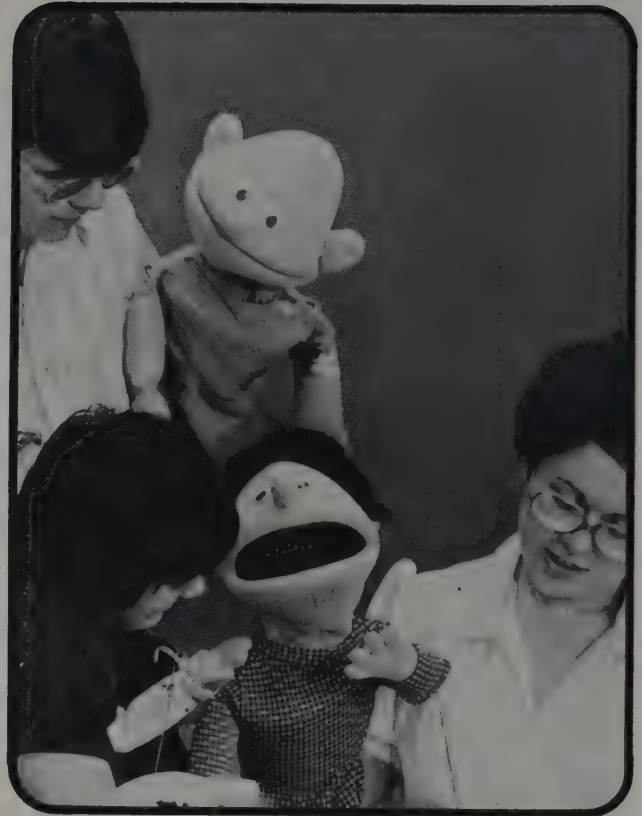

There Are Things We'd Like To Change

Muppets became an integral part of the World Missions Volunteers Impact program.

Pausing for a moment, Jesse Henderson and Debbie Blackwell visited in front of the Administration Building.

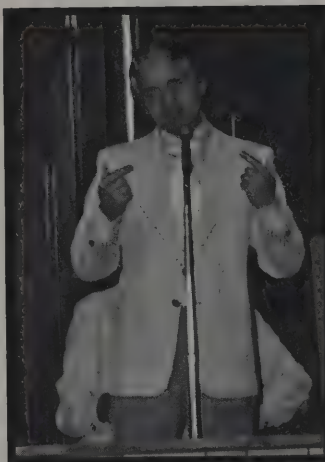

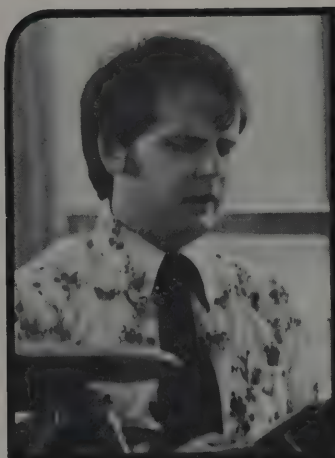

Warm fall days afforded many opportunities to fellowship outdoors.

Things Do Not Change — We Do!

ORGANIZATIONS

We outline very meticulous schemes
in attempt to reach outlandish dreams,
but quickly find
that fail-proof plans and flawless ends are few and far between.

and so we learn
to pick up pieces,
smile
and start again.
... 'cause though we see that there will be long meetings to endure,
and some discomfiture,
pouts and frowns,
and ups and downs,
we've convinced ourselves it's worth it ...
and to be together —
whether working or playing, successful or not —
What we've gained is priceless;
what we've learned is a lot — lessons in giving
and unselfish living,
the rich satisfaction of being a part —
part of a body with one mind and one heart,
the triumphant joy of reaching a goal that seems far too high ...
beyond our control,
love which forgives and believes the best,
patience to wait,
courage to quest.
In laughter
and in tears,
With censure
or with cheers,
we walk in step,
we sing our song in harmony,
for we belong.

Led by President Cindy Wagner, the Whatsoever Club sponsored the annual Women's Banquet in October. The theme for the year, "Fruit of the Spirit," was carried through by various guest speakers. A surprise Christmas party was enjoyed by all girls. Other officers were Debbie Paul, Gayle Overholser, Karen Fenner, and Suzanne Holt, with Judy Johnson as sponsor.

A Fruitful Year . . . Whatsoever

Led by their president, Jon Underwood, the Ambassadors Club sponsored the Men's Banquet, the Titus Club Rally, and the annual Preaching Contest. The three finalists, Al King, Mike Wood and Ervin Stutzman, preached in chapel with Mike Wood selected as the winner. Other officers for the year were Tim Sims, student council representative; Mr. Kidwell, sponsor; Damon Reid, vice president; and Todd Maurer, secretary.

Ambassadors — Serving God Now
While Preparing For The Future

Under the direction of Professor Byron Cartwright, the Watchmen and Women's Chorus enjoyed a successful year of singing. Both groups participated in many events, including the Conference on Evangelism, Christmas and Spring concerts, and a program at the Northern Hills Church of Christ in Cincinnati. Highlighting the year was the annual Spring Tour for each group.

A Summer Of Service And Song — Come Alive '76

Judy Johnson ably served in her capacity as dean of women. Dean of men, Terry Silence, finished his second year in this capacity.

The Men's Residence was under the leadership of RA's Dean Heitkamp, Rick Smalling, Bud Brown, Paul Kenneson, Barry Thornton, Jeff Underwood, John Turner, and Gary Fenner, head assistant.

Women's Residence and Alumni Hall were guided by women RA's: Marqueta Evans, Lynn McKillip, Gayle Overholser, Christi Cavy, Suzanne Holt, Kathy McCann, Denise Pope, Cindy Wagner, Heather Smith, LuAnn Jaynes, Sherre Harris, and Sara Hauptli, head resident.

Dorm Life With Residences, Rules, RA's

This year's Student Council was definitely a year of change, a change that was for the best of the Student Body. When we worked, we worked; and when we played, we played. It was a year full of duties, and the people to fulfill those duties. Our thanks to these dedicated officers and their council.

Student Government Or Fun And Games

World Mission Volunteers

Change definitely hit the WMV program, and we thank them for the tremendous job that they did in 1976-1977. The "Muppet" Ministry added much to the program of these young, dedicated people. One of the highlight events for them was Mission Emphasis Week, which they planned, organized, and conducted. Not only was there a change in the WMV program this year, but there was a change in the lives of people who were affected by the ministry of WMV.

AMAZING TRANSFORMATION

from ordinary students to athletes of repute:

uniforms pressed,
each hair in place,
fresh,
clean,

and fragrant,
a smile on each face.

... and then the whistle blows ...

AMAZING TRANSFORMATION

from athletes of repute to ardent contestants:

the action has started
each muscle is tense

each ear hears excitement
each eye reads suspense,

... and then the buzzer buzzes to signify the end ...

AMAZING TRANSFORMATION

from ardent contestants to winners and losers:

hairstyles have been altered
uniforms are sagging

the winners are strutting
the losers are dragging.

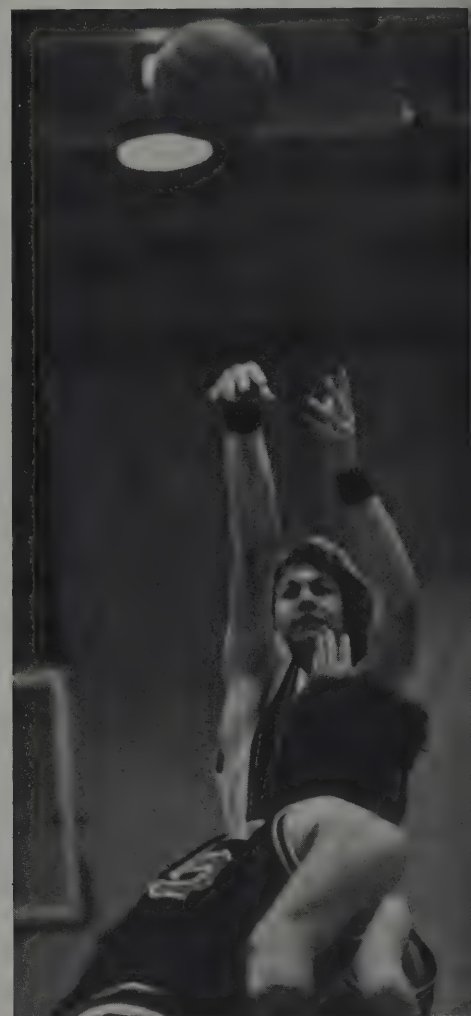

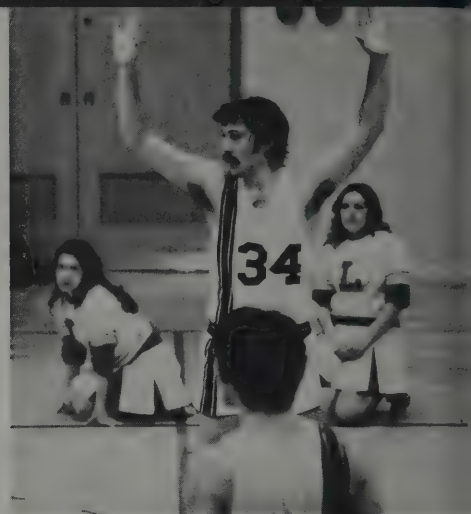

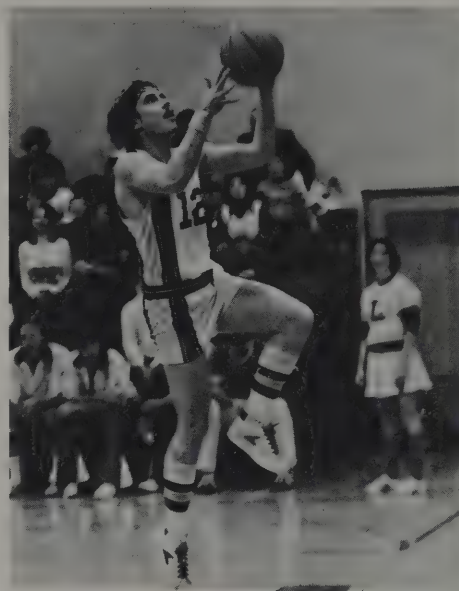

... from the floor to the locker rooms ...

AMAZING TRANSFORMATION

from winners and losers to ordinary students again.

With Victories Won The Honors Come

The Winter
Of '77

Snow, snow, snow ... Sledding on cafeteria trays, sprained ankles, black and blue eyes, traffic jams. Snow, snow, snow ... and no where to go (who could get their car out anyway?), snowball fights, temperatures way below zero, 35 inches of "that white stuff."

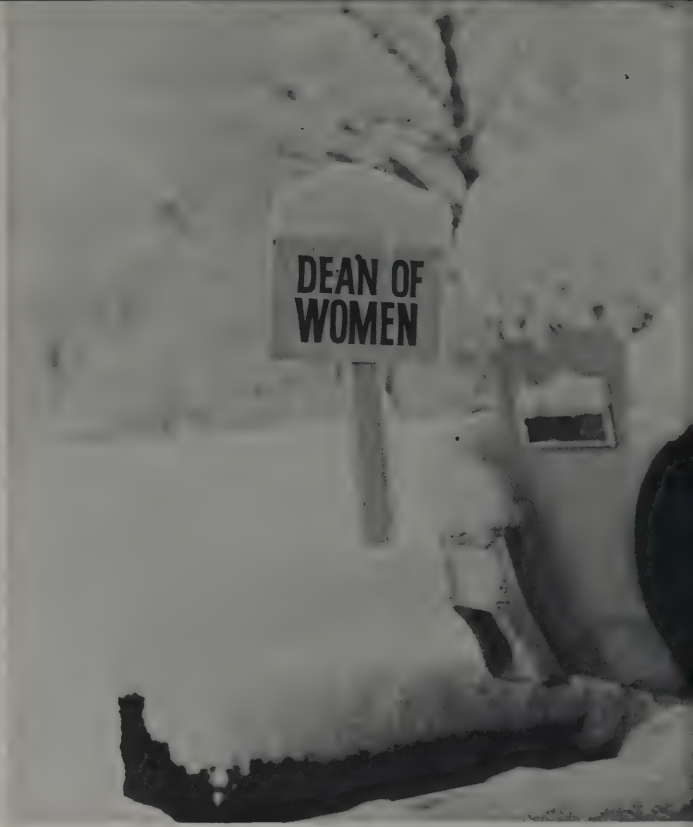

Snow, snow, snow ... Glittering like diamonds, angels and snowmen, peaceful children (old and young) enjoy the wonders of winter. Neither snow or slush nor slippery ice shall keep professors from their classes.

Snow, snow, snow ... Longing for the sight of grass, "like a tulip (tulip?!)" under the April snow," gently falling, shoveling day and night ... "and I thank God for the weather," and worship on campus one Sunday.

Winter Snow Can Be A Sport All Its Own

Troubled Traffic But Beauty Unequaled

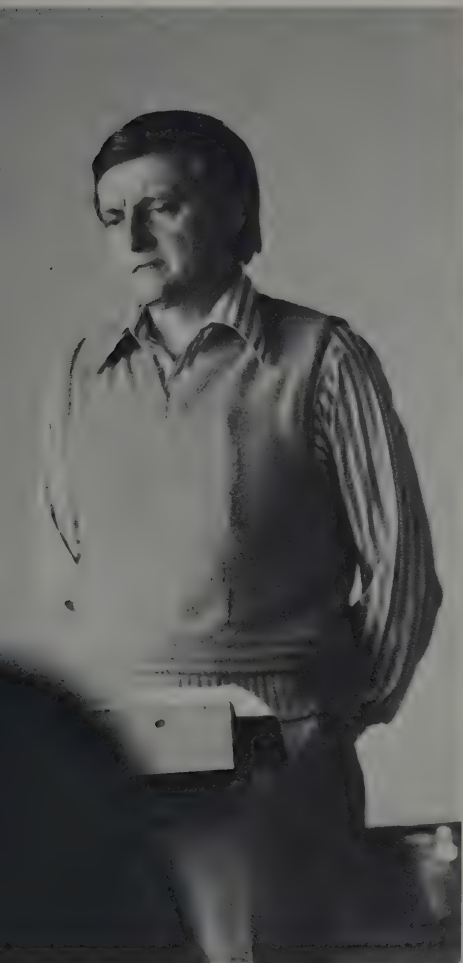

Three days — March 18-20 — 250 miles away — in Angola, Indiana — over seventy CBS students . . . and a few faculty members.

The 1977 school retreat featured as its speaker Roger Chambers on the topic — "About Your Attitude." Together they examined and evaluated, took stock and sought to change and help each other change.

. . . they enjoyed relaxation, recreation, and refreshment and returned renewed, revived, and reunited.

STUDENT LIFE

... and SUDDENLY we were student!
and our time began to be spent somewhat differently.
To many things we bade adieu —
jobs, homes, and leisure ...
to mention a few.
... SUDDENLY we were students!
new tasks were ours to share
new responsibilities to bear
new roles to undertake
new folks to meet
new friends to make
... SUDDENLY
an opportunity was ours
such as we'd never had before to search
and discover,
to listen
and learn,
to get to know our Master more.
And the better we knew Him,
the more that we loved Him,
and
SLOWLY ...
we began to change.

remember the night . . .
you review it in your mind
again and again,
and everything is just the way it was back then —
the colors are as bright
as they were that night;
every sound seems near
and crystal clear . . .
a special word you heard a special song you sang along —
it was a very special night.
But who can tell
what turns an ordinary thing
into something more?
And who can say
what it takes to make a very special night?
Is it a certain smile?
or many happy faces?
peculiar events
and uncommon places?
or can it be
that special friends,
whom you love and who love you,
make special things and special nights of all you have
and all you do?

DEDICATION

He's a man we'll remember . . . and there's much to remember about him. When we think of Mr. Eynon, we'll recall his outstanding feats in volleyball . . . (he contributed not only a steady serve, but also sound advice) — Sneak Day '73 — "Best Bald Volleyball Player."

He's a man we'll remember . . . as a poet (he's got quite a collection), as a great storyteller (did you ever hear the one about his "fleas"?), as an actor (he starred as the prophet "DANIEL" at the "F.A.S.T. Fest"), and as an intriguing speaker (whether in sermon or lesson or devotional talk, he puts his thoughts together in a way that is his very own — in a way that we have enjoyed and loved).

Mr. Eynon was our campus minister and Christian service director until 1976, positions which he assumed in 1971. Before accepting those responsibilities, his service to the Seminary was focused in the classroom (and in-all the other areas to which a professor must give his energies); he taught for eighteen years. And though we ourselves never had the privilege to sit in any of his classes, we have certainly heard many good reports about Mr. Eynon's "Acts class."

We'll remember him . . . as a preacher, teacher, writer — one of us — and each time we remember, we'll thank the Lord.

Although for most of us, Mrs. Eynon is not as familiar as her husband, we thank the Lord for her and for her faithfulness to His work.

This year, the Whatsoever Club had the opportunity to hear her speak on the subject of "Faith"; and those who attended were surely blessed by her message.

Mrs. Eynon is a lady whose life reflects her love for the Lord, for His church, and for His whole creation. In addition to leading a Ladies' Bible Study and teaching the younger children of the Price Ave. Church of Christ, she is called upon frequently to speak . . . at ladies' banquets, mother-daughter banquets, camps, retreats, and many other places. (If you've ever listened to Mrs. Eynon, you can understand why people keep calling her — she doesn't just give speeches; she tells you about the "Christian walk" . . . and you know, as you listen, that she's familiar with the path.)

She is a very special person with a very special quality — Mr. and Mrs. Eynon are quite a couple . . . a couple which we'll remember. And every time that we remember, we'll thank the Lord.

In grateful appreciation for service to our school and for service to our Lord, the class of 1977 has dedicated this year's Nautilus to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Eynon.

Crash! Bang! The noisy senior class ushered in Sneak Day, 1976, at 8 a.m. sharp, October 6. Spirits remained undampened by rain and cold . . . Tim Seever and JoEllen Jones could not help but be "sourpusses" after the pickle-eating contest. Recalling childhood days, Mike McCoskey entered the tricycle race. Enthusiastic students participated in the pre-game "umbrella raising." Jim Bush demonstrated the winning style of the senior class. Braving the rain, our new cafeteria manager, Fred Libick, grilled steaks for dinner.

Night brought a sensational change to the CBS cafeteria — Big Chuck's Ice Cream Emporium! The gala affair included eating such delicacies as "Samson and Delilah," "John the Baptist," "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego," and other scriptural delights.

Brian Borton assisted a less-than-youthful Tim Sims in serving the big treat of the evening, "The Consummation." Bringing a musical note to the event, the Fantastic Five (better known as Brian Borton, Tom Mullins, Becki Underwood, Don Seevers, and Steve Reeves) added to the atmosphere. This lovely line-up of last-year ladies celebrated their victories in volleyball.

Raindrops Kept Falling, But Not Spirits — Sneak Day

Mrs. Patsy Wilson, from Lincoln Christian College, was the speaker for this year's Women's Banquet. The theme was "In God We Trust." The Madrigal Singers also highlighted the evening.

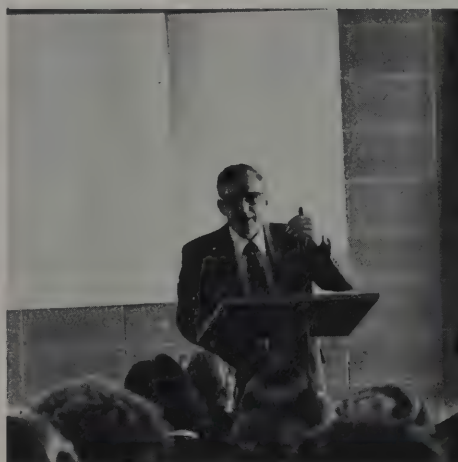

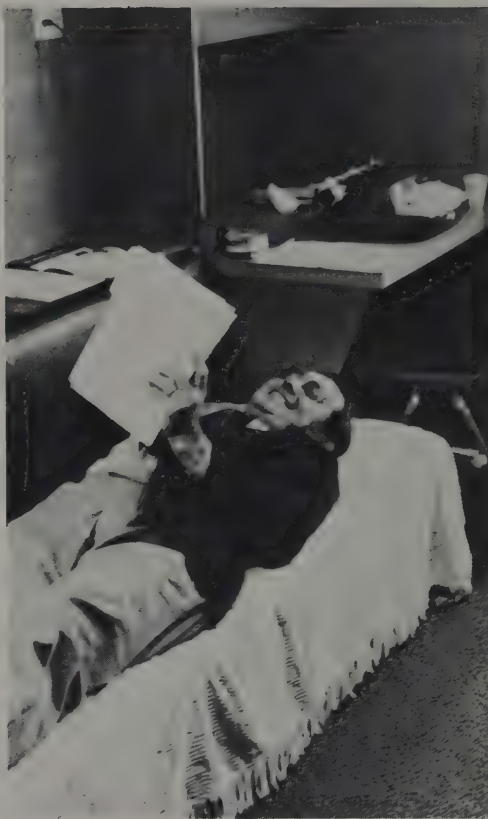

The Men's Banquet was addressed by Bob Stacy, Founder-Director of "Christ in Youth." Special music was provided by "Sons of Light."

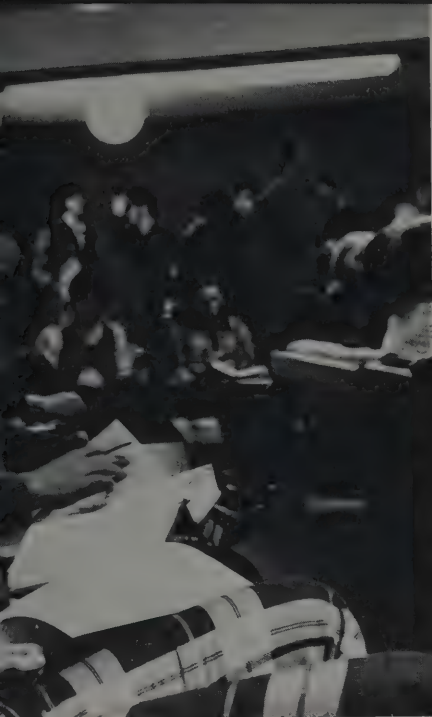

Banqueting Times Can Be Great Times

"In the spirit of community interest and welfare, and in the exercise of Christian stewardship, we are endeavoring to cooperate as much as possible in the current energy crisis confronting our city and state." Wholesale change was required early in 1977 as CBS faced the energy crunch along with the entire Midwest.

BOTTOM LEFT: This was the group of second-generation students. BOTTOM RIGHT: While fellow students looked on, many dedicated their lives in this special chapel service.

CBS Life Takes Us From Crisis To Crisis

Chapel sessions featured a number of inspiring speakers. Students led in worship and praise. A variety of messages were presented. Outstanding was the Lectureship series presented by Dr. James Girdwood.

A time of fellowship, growth, and inspiration sparked by great preaching on a great subject by great preachers.

A Rich Heritage With Great Horizons

Spirit Of Beauty

A "Spirit of Beauty" truly described this year's Homecoming. The crowning of the queen, led by Dan Garrett and Karen Reed, was the highlight of the evening. Senior Suzanne Holt's court consisted of freshman, Jane Stutz; sophomore, Holly Hitchcock; junior, Denise Pope; and senior, Sherre Harris.

The Netherland Hilton "Hall of Mirrors" set the stage for the Ohio Valley Chorus' lively entertainment. This year's king and queen were Steve White and Diana Thurman. Keith Dimbath and Christi Cavey were crowned prince and princess. For some, like Rick Smalling and Lynn McKilip, the evening was a success. For some, like Tim Sims, the evening was a drag — he went stag!

A Touch Of Class: Heart's Day, 1977

This year's Campus Day began bright and early with breakfast, shared with family members. Hours and hours of work followed although everyone quit by noon. Then the real work began with softball and volleyball. Steve Roberts came in first place in the "Foster Mile." "Almost Anything Goes" was the night activity consisting of relay races, bobbing for apples, and creative events thought up by the Sophomore Class.

LOWER RIGHT: Rosanne Russell and Dean Burton presented awards to several students for being selected in the "Who's who among American colleges and universities."

Academic Excellence Pays Off

PEOPLE

People are EVERYWHERE

and though in many ways they're alarmingly alike, each one is hand- made and specially designed by a skillful and loving Creator.

Sometimes they're funny to watch —
they laugh

they make mistakes

they play interesting little games.

Sometimes they're puzzling —

they say one thing, but do another they ignore the one who put them together.

Sometimes they're sad to watch —

they hurt each other

they hurt themselves

they feel pain

they cause pain

they become very confused,

frustrated,

and lost.

People are FASCINATING

from babies ... to little kids ... to big kids ...

to young adults ... to full-fledged, experienced grown-ups

we watch them grow

and change

and become ... something.

People are VERY SPECIAL

created in God's image

after His likeness

with great possibilities

and inestimable worth.

each one — free to choose his own unique pathway

each one — bound to experience the sorrows and joys of human living and every single one gifted with those wonderful qualities that make him a member of the human race.

God so loved us ... PEOPLE ... that He gave

His one and only Son that WE might have life eternally

with Him.

“The Fear Of The Lord
Is The Beginning Of Knowledge.”

The College provided opportunity for women, both for learning and self expression. They were host for the first annual Church Secretarial Clinic, Saturday, September 8, 1976. The full, practical program presented throughout the day was well received (PICTURED LEFT).

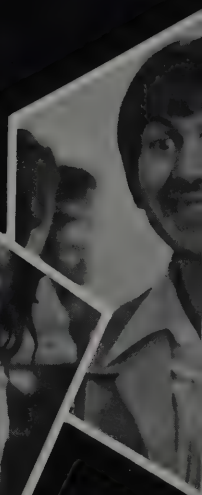

The married women, organized as the Wives' Fellowship, had as highlights of their activities prayer and share groups and five main meetings. One such meeting was on marriage, to which meeting engaged girls were invited. (A SCENE FROM THIS IS PICTURED BELOW.) The planning committee consisted of Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Bream, Mrs. Sims, and Mrs. Stone.

SENIORS

Yesterdays . . . memories
 we'll thank the Lord for every one.
 Looking back . . . remembering . . .
 days in the shadows and days in the sun,
 Smiles and grins and happiness in king-size packs,
 Sneak Days, snow drifts, papers due, and midnight snacks.
 there are those moments we'd like to relive — ungiven gifts we'd like to give,
 unspoken words, unshed tears, unreached hopes, unsolved fears —
 and though there've been times when angers flared, opinions clashed, and no one cared,
 just now our thoughts are over-ruled by love,
 and friendships and good things are all we're thinking of;
 and yet we're thinking of tomorrow, too,
 and what tomorrow brings . . .
 poverty or fortune?
 bachelorhood or diamond rings?
 We've reached one journey's end, only to find a new one lies before us; the old one lies behind.
 It's a blend of joy and sadness, of prayer and contemplation which our minds portray:

 The years that we've spent here have prepared us
 for this — this time when we'd leave to serve, to give, to guide — at least to try . . .
 . . . and we need to let go, but we want to hold on . . .
 For just one last minute and one last "Good-bye."
 and we'll say our "Good-bye's" with glistening eyes
 then turn to the roads we have chosen to walk.
 We know that somewhere, someday, some of us will meet again and smile and laugh and say,
 "The Lord's been good."
 But others will have chosen paths that take them far away, or paths that lead them "home" —
 it's "kind of" sad . . .
 That things will never be the way they were at CBC;
 they can't be, and we can't be things have changed and so have we.
 And yet there is something that remains over hundreds of miles through storms and rains —
 we loved each other in the past, as sister and brother; that will last.
 And there are memories . . .
 . . . like nuggets of gold sparkling like new even as they grow old,
 memories like snapshots stored away
 in the locket of our hearts for a "rainy day."
 Looking back . . . remembering . . .
 Looking ahead . . . and whispering a prayer,
 "May God bless me as I build upon that which I have built;
 May it declare to all who see that He has worked through me to make something good, something real,
 something worth remembering."

The cafeteria served as an honors hall as the Sophomore Class said "farewell and "thank you" to Rosanne Russell with a gift for her dedication and leadership as their class sponsor.

A new setting for Baccalaureate was enjoyed by all at Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, with Roger Chambers challenging the graduates to "Ahead to Better Things." Bright and early the next morning The Madrigal Singers entertained the seniors and their guests during breakfast at Schueler's Banquet Hall.

Special Events Climax Final Week

Oh, lift up your eyes, good comrades,
Swift with knowledge to bestow;
To our calling we are beckoned,
Now our time has come to go.

From these halls in deep sobriety
God's message we proclaim;
As our fellows went before us,
It is time we did the same.

Let us summon up our courage
To depart our separate ways,
Then profess the truths we nurtured
Through our silver ivy days.

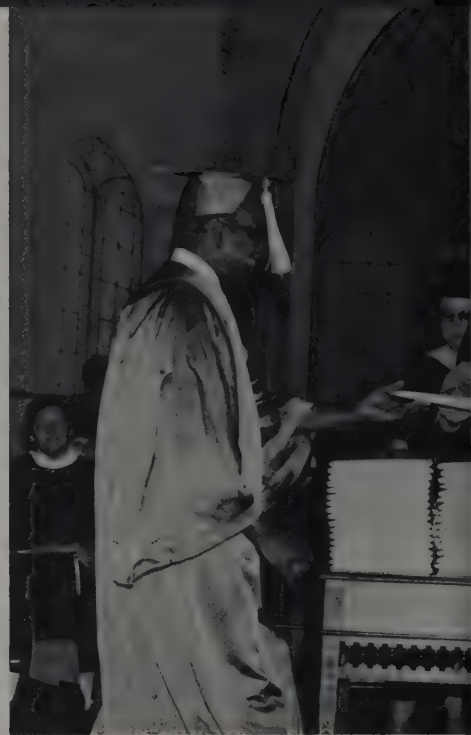

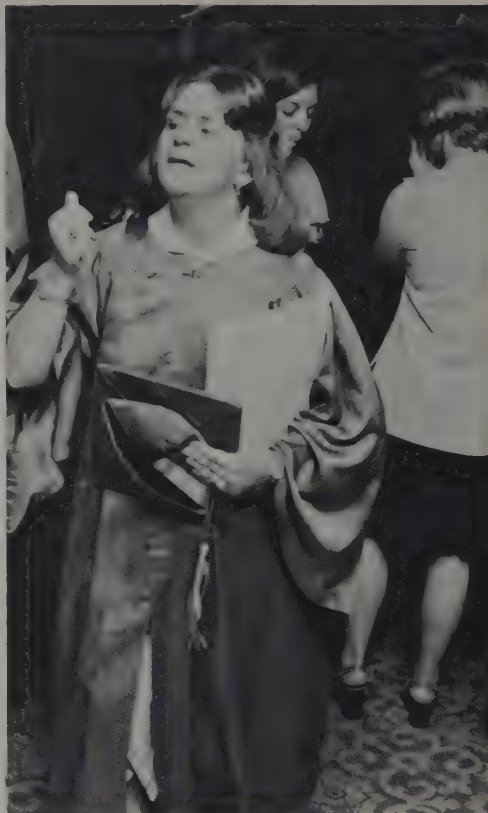

While in part we do His bidding
As commissioned to each soul,
Let us glorify the Father
Who exonerates the whole.

Touch your rings of gold together,
Raise your voices in the song;
Then, farewell in deepest sorrow,
For the parting may be long.

But we'll meet again, good comrades,
When angelic trumpets sound;
As the King comes to His glory
And His children gather round.

Set your hearts, good Christian soldiers,
To a world besieged with woe;
We must bring them to the Saviour —
Now our time has come to go.

Raymond O. Prager

Many hearts were filled with moments to remember on Commencement Day. Graduates and their families and friends were addressed by the theme, "Representatives of Christ." Chuck Faber, salutatorian, spoke on "The Way"; Tim Sims, valedictorian, on "The Truth"; and Brian Borton, class orator, on "The Life." Tom Thurman honored fourteen seniors by presenting them with Delta Aleph Tau memberships. A touching moment closed the service when Trustee Don Miller presented Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bream with a special award: a trip to the Holy Lands.

AFTERWORD

Every day brings changes —
    some for better ... some for worse ...
Left turn right turn Speed up
    slow down
    put it in reverse.
Protecting,
neglecting,
inspecting,
correcting ...
trying to make the changes on my own.

Erasing,
retracing,
effacing,
replacing ...
trying to undo the things I have done.
I've tried and I've failed in my endeavor and my life is more a mess than ever;
    alone
I am scarred, tired and afraid
from my pointless struggle and mistakes I've made ...
But just when it seems I'm ready to quit,
    crumble it up
    and toss it away —
a life torn and stained,
    of faded gray —
The One who can change me comes,
creates in me a clean heart,
renews a right spirit within me,
restores unto me the joy of his salvation,
upholds ...
and delivers ...
...and at last I see the brand new me that I have tried so hard to make with strain
    and with pain
    and with frequent mistake —
a "me" that is lovely and fresh and free.
... I didn't know how easy change could be ...
But now, because of Him I know and I like changing ... His way.
